The price for this trip is 300 € per person, plus the cost of getting to Tarifa. This price includes all food, accommodation and transportation within Morocco. It does not include getting to Tarifa by bus or train, nor your personal expenses (possible 20-40 € for gifts, etc). If you want to go, I need to know so that you can purchase bus/train tickets. I need a minimum of 6 travelers to make it feasible and a maximum of 19 per weekend.

This is a fun trip on which you can also learn a lot—by meeting people in addition to seeing the sights. Morocco was recently ranked the #3 country in the world for welcoming foreign tourists, after Iceland and New Zealand. Why would you go to such a friendly place and not meet the locals?

I really enjoy taking students to Morocco and sharing that amazing place with them. Please join me!
